

Bio: Tarun Ramadorai

Tarun Ramadorai is a Reader in Finance at Said Business School, Oxford University, and a member of the Oxford-Man Institute for Quantitative Finance. He is currently located at the London Business School, where he is visiting for a year. Tarun specialises in empirical asset pricing and international finance. He has worked on characterizing the behaviour of institutional portfolio flows into equities and currencies in a range of countries, and the impacts of these flows on long and short horizon asset prices. His current research analyzes the performance of hedge funds, the risks inherent in their returns, and capital formation in the hedge fund industry. His research has been published in international journals such as the Journal of Finance and the Review of Financial Studies.

Tarun has a BA in Mathematics and Economics from Williams College, an MPhil in Economics from the University of Cambridge, and a PhD in Business Economics from Harvard University.